The product will need to be sent to American Classic and inspected prior to making a decision whether it is covered by the warranty. Any postage, insurance or shipping costs incurred in sending your American Classic product for service are your responsibility.

Please insure your package for its replacement value in the event that your product is damaged during shipping.

For wheels, American Classic strongly suggests you use a carton box designed especially for wheels with adequate protective padding to reduce the risk of damage while shipping.

All personal items, including but not limited to cassettes, tires, tubes, rim tape, computer magnet, quick release skewers, must be removed from your wheel(s) before sending them in for service. American Classic is not responsible for any personal items sent in with a warranty product.
